OUTPUT (ESSAY – AMBITION)

“Ambition is desire or wish to achieve something”

Ambition is the best quality that a person can have, everyone, dreams about achieving goals and dreams in life that are nearly impossible to grasp due to certain circumstances. Ambition is a passion that never fails you and will never let you fail it, and therefore it will ultimately cause the downfall of the individual. Ambition is the best quality anyone can have until we crossed the line of chasing a dream and just being obsessed.

No one is born with the ambition that makes you obsessed with your goals and dreams in life. Certain incidents must occur to push this person to let ambition make you obsessed with the goals and dreams in life. You may spend your whole life striving for a dream or goal that you have. You work so hard in getting what you think you want, but when you achieved and accomplished your goal or dream. You realized that you're not happy and lost certain things that are so much more important to you than your so-called dream or goal.

Why do some individuals still try in chasing their dreams even though they know that the chances of succeeding are very slim? Nobody can answer it perfectly however the willingness, passion, the never-give-up tendency of some personalities keep them up for trying their best until the results knowing that results may or may not favorable every time.

Knowledge is power and excess pride in power can corrupt any human being. Chasing a dream is good until the mind is obsessed and is poisoned with the ambition that will change you into a whole new person. Hence, using this power wisely and with absolute intelligence will make every individual's ambition that they are expecting from work will become real successfully. Because it is better to be a little nobody than to be an evil somebody!
